- Kristy: has been a teacher for the last 10 years, looking forward to being at Parkland. Has taught the last couple years grades 2-5.
- Lana brought up the concern of a split classroom not having the same curriculum. Kristy assures that even if the whole class is doing the same project and the grade levels will have different expectations for work production.
- How does Kristy envision contacting parents: if she has an inkling parents should be contacted she will phone, communicating as a team with parents behavioral or not. She will be sitting down with staff to go over class management and going over the code of conduct and discussing that with the parents. All children will be getting assessments in the fall
- Classroom Composition: about 40 students as of right now. Potentially K-3, 4-7. With 2 and a half teachers. Morning LA and math, afternoon will be worked out when the team is here to discuss.
- Lana asked Kristy what her philosophy for outside time, outside classroom. She's talking to the staff next year about the rules for the kids and differentiating the grades.
- There is no curriculum for sports for elementary schools. As a Pac we have the ability to address the suggestions to the teachers as an advisory, that affects the school as a whole.
